

TRANSADVOCATE

Do People Who Work at Sex Toy Shops Count as “Young Professionals”?

By Kat

Published February 16, 2011 | Updated March 31, 2026

https://www.transadvocate.com/do-people-who-work-at-sex-toy-shops-count-as-young-professionals_n_2998.htm

Abstract

I’m just askin’... I’m still askin’... And I won’t stop askin’.... That’s how they marginalize us. They don’t go into the local department store, the shoe store, or the coffee shop and show regular folk doing regular jobs. EQMD drags their plantation mentality selves in front of the lemmings and say “Lookie, our little trannies provide [...]

Article

I’m just askin’...

EQMD: Young Professionals Happy Hour

Date: February 16, 2011

Time: 05:00 PM

Location:

Waterstone Bar and Grill

311 W. Madison Street

Come Join Equality Maryland for a Young Professionals Happy Hour!

I’m still askin’...

stirring up raw passion

phone: 410.467.2632 • 927 W. 36th St., Hampden Baltimore, MD

Home
Sex Info
Classes & Events
All About Sugar
Contact Info
Hours & Directions
Sugarware Parties
Press
Resources & Links

Sugar's "Private" Options!

Parties, Private Classes, One on One Coaching, and College Presentations Tailored To YOU!

And I won't stop askin'....

That's how they marginalize us. They don't go into the local department store, the shoe store, or the coffee shop and show regular folk doing regular jobs. EQMD drags their plantation mentality selves in front of the lemmings and say "Lookie, our little trannies provide excellent customer service."

EQMD mentions Sugar as a "novelty shop" and the owner calls it a "retail store," but their website clearly identifies it as a "sex toy shop." I guess "out and proud" doesn't apply when you're asking clergy in Annapolis to celebrate how loving and committed you are.

They paint us into a caricature of what many churchgoers might consider a "sleazy" job with obvious sexual overtones. It's bad enough that Jerry Springer does that. But this is coming from a so called "civil rights organization."

As I recall it was the same sex toy shop where Equality Maryland held a fund raising event last week. I have a problem with that. What a lovely way to tell the Christian community whom they want to vote for marriage equality that they are just normal "loving and committed couples." It's just dumb EQMD.

Don't drag us down to your level.

And I won't stop tellin'....

Suggested citation

Kat. "Do People Who Work at Sex Toy Shops Count as “Young Professionals”?" TransAdvocate, February 16, 2011.
https://www.transadvocate.com/do-people-who-work-at-sex-toy-shops-count-as-young-professionals_n_2998.htm