

TRANSADVOCATE

Media Using Children For Profit: Gender Change, Not Sex Change Kids

By Marti Abernathey

Published October 20, 2009 | Updated March 31, 2026

https://www.transadvocate.com/media-using-children-for-profit-gender-change-not-sex-change-kids_n_1815.htm

Abstract

Every time I see a story about “USA: 8-year-old child sex change“, “8-year-old boy has ‘sex change’, or Boy, 8, has ‘sex change’, that is Unbelievable!, it sickens me. Not because of the children, but because of the media. These children are transgender, not transsexual. They are simply being allowed to self identify, without any [...]

Article

Every time I see a story about “USA: 8-year-old child sex change“, “8-year-old boy has ‘sex change’, or Boy, 8, has ‘sex change’, that is Unbelievable!, it sickens me. Not because of the children, but because of the media. These children are transgender, not transsexual. They are simply being allowed to self identify, without any surgery or hormones. Trans-children won’t need hormones blockers until the onset of puberty (which happens in a range from 10-18 years old), and generally don’t have sexual reassignment surgery until after they are 18.

But facts be damned, the media churns out these screaming headlines that imply that these kids will be having genital altering surgery. This is child exploitation at its worst.

Suggested citation

Marti Abernathey. "Media Using Children For Profit: Gender Change, Not Sex Change Kids." TransAdvocate, October 20, 2009.

https://www.transadvocate.com/media-using-children-for-profit-gender-change-not-sex-change-kids_n_1815.htm